

We keep your information secure

This text aims at giving you information on both our policy and commitment regarding the protection of your personal data.

Secure your information

KeyMRO commits itself towards the concerned people to take all necessary precautions in order to keep the provided information secure and confidential and particularly to prevent it from being altered, spoiled or disclosed to non authorised third parts (art. 29 of the French law « Informatique et Libertés » January 6th 1978).

If you wish to exercise your right to either access, change, cancel your data (art 34 "Informatique et Libertés" January 6th 1978), please send an email to contact@keymro.com

Protecting your personal data which we collect in our sites is one of our first responsibilities. We value your confidence and we make sure that your personal data is safe. Our employees access to the personal information you provide us in order to communicate these data to facilitate and accelerate the deployment of the contracts. But we may also access them if law so requests it.

We store this personal data according to safety standard processes and we are always looking for new technologies in order to find a better protection.

The personal information we collect include for example your name, your address, information dealing with your company, your email address , or even data related to your navigation.

Making sure your personal data is accurate

We do our best in order to check the accuracy and update of your personal information and make sure they are processed in accordance with "Informatique et Liberté" law. In the event this data proves incomplete, wrong or obsolete, or if you wish to exercise your modification and access right in accordance with the applying law (French law "Informatique et Liberté" nr78-17, January 6th 1978 art 25 or equivalent national law) please be kind enough to keep us informed and send an email to KeyMRO (contact@keymro.com)

How and why this information is shared

We limit the number of persons beign authorised to access this information (as well as the kind of information shared). We share this kind of information in order to facilitate the integration of these data into our customers information systems within the framework of our commercial relations.

- Share your personal data with the companies working with us: we can share, provided you agree to, your personal data with those companies we work for and particularly our founders.
- Share your personal data with other third parts: we may provide your personal data in the course of legal proceedings in order to protect and defend either KeyMRO's rights, users' rights, this site, or even public's rights

If you do not want this data being used for commercial purpose, you can send an email (contact@keymro.com) .

Other sites

KeyMRO site may contain links to other sites ; we are not responsible for the content or the applying practices regarding personal information protection for such sites. We highly advise you to read their policy regarding personal information protection.